

BIG BANKRUPT STOCK

OF THE ECONOMY SHOE HOUSE

OF PITTSBURG

BY THE BLUM SHOE COMPANY

120 North Public Square

$15,000 Stock of Shoes, and Oxfords, Rubber Goods and Felt Boots of all description, and they are all new and manufactured for this season's business. The Economy Shoe House was noted in Pittsburgh for selling Honest Made goods; lack of capital, the backward season and dull times has forced them into bankruptcy, they being indebted Mr. Morris Meyer, a member of the Blum Shoe Co., for an enormous sum of money loaned them. Not being able to come to any satisfactory settlement on money matters, turned their stock over to Morris Meyer. He brought the entire stock to Canton to be sold at about

60 Cents On The Dollar

The Blum Shoe Co. wish to inform the people of Canton that this stock must be turned into cash within 20 Days; We mean to make this the largest Sacrifice Sale of Footwear ever attempted in Canton at such ridiculously low prices.

Barn Burned by Lightning.
Special to the Morning News.
Millersburg, March 19.—A tremendous storm accompanied by hail, thunder and lightning passed over here last night. A barn owned by Mrs. Kerr near town, was struck and burned. The Killbuck river has again spread over the low lands and is again threatening the railroads.

Into Penitentiary After a Late Start Again Interrupted—Will Rest Until Tuesday

BUT LITTLE WAS DONE

Columbus, March 19.—The investigation of the penitentiary by the special legislative committee, which finally began Wednesday after many delays, was interrupted again today, and is not to be resumed until Tuesday.

During a brief inspection of the prison, the investigators applauded and tipped an insane convict who did a clog dance for their benefit.

The committee agreed that the cells are a disgrace to the state and that the "bath room" fitted up for insane convicts is not nearly as clean as many sheds in Columbus where buggies are washed.

"It's a crime," said Senator Ward, one of the inquirers.

"It's the fault of the legislators themselves," said Representative Frizell, another member of the committee.

Committeemen Neely and Huffman rode over to the prison in Warden Gould's carriage this morning, and 15 minutes later rode back to state house in the same carriage.

Senator Lawyer, chairman of the committee, walked to the prison and had a chat with the warden.

Unless something else interrupts, the inquirers will meet tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. The plan is to adjourn then until Tuesday.

The net result of the investigation so far is a free trip around the prison under the chaperonage of Warden Gould and Deputy Warden Wood.

The inquirers saw the deputy warden go through the motions of paddling a prisoner.

"Just like I always paddle 'em," he said.

Then they saw the water cure with the assurance that it had "been cut out."

In the dining room they stood on a freshly saw-dusted floor and watched prisoners eat on freshly scoured tables. One of the committeemen ate a piece of meat and a bite of bread.

They talked to prisoners and learned that the fare was pretty good—particularly on the day the committee was expected.

One of the prisoners said they were fed moldy bread.

One inquirer investigated at the bakery and learned that the bread is not moldy—when it is baked.

Prisoners who work in the shop complained that they had nothing but bread, molasses and coffee for breakfast, which they said was not enough for the kind of work they had to do.

ERIE WOULD MAKE A CUT IN WAGES

Kent, O., March 19.—It is reported that the Erie wants its switchmen, engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen and all of its organized employees to accept a ten per cent cut in their wages. The Erie shops are still quiet. About fifty men are working half time. There are enough crippled cars in the yards to keep the shops busy at full force for a year and more lumber and other material on hand than known for years. It is a prediction of old railroad men that some day the shop will start with a rush that will swell the tide of local prosperity more than it is now depressed by their inactivity.

Auditor's Inquiry Passed to Tuesday.

Columbus, O., March 19.—The senate inquirers in the state auditor's office have decided to postpone further investigation until Tuesday, in order that the accountants may have time to secure information.

Later Hours to Favor People

Dunn wishes to accommodate everybody so he will remain at Roth & Hug's Drug Store on Saturday Night until 9 o'clock or later if necessary.

It has come to the notice of Dunn, the Quaker Health Teacher, that many people who would like to meet him, cannot do so because they are employed during the regular hours of the day. For the benefit of such people he wishes it to be announced that every Saturday for the remainder of his visit he will remain at Roth & Hug's drug store until 9 o'clock at night or later, if necessary. No person can now have an excuse for not meeting him, talking to him or hearing his plain, honest, sincere talk on good health and Quaker.

Sufferers from rheumatism, catarrh, constipation, nervousness, kidney, liver, stomach or blood troubles should by all means call on him. They will surely regret it if they fail. Remember, there is absolutely no charge to talk to him, and people, when they call, are under no obligations to buy the remedies. How foolish, therefore, for sufferers not to take advantage of this glorious opportunity to learn what is in store for them to relieve them of pains and miseries and make them enjoy health. Mr. Henry Broxterman, of this city, thinks Dunn in words similar to the following:

Mr. Dunn, I want to tell you that during the past four years I have spent a small fortune in endeavors to rid myself of a severe case of chronic indigestion, dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I have visited the springs at West Baden and New Martensville, have tried many, yes hundreds of different prescribed and advertised remedies, and even now I have a medicine chest at home that looks like a small apothecary shop, but nothing helped me. I would feel distressed after eating, get dizzy, have sleepy spells. My stomach would bloat so I could not eat at times, button my clothes. Pains across my back were very severe and I could not sit down or get up without terrible pains. I read of the cure of Mr. Kissinger by Quaker and this made me decide to try just once more. I purchased 2 bottles of Quaker Extract at Roth & Hug's two weeks ago. I have now taken less than two bottles and my improvement is simply wonderful. I feel like a new man in every way and most earnestly beg all sufferers from stomach troubles to try Quaker Extract.

Do such testimonials encourage you if you are suffering?

Outline Lights

The form of decorative lighting which is interesting the "municipalities and powers" throughout the more active sections of the country is "Outline Lighting."

These designs are familiar to those who have visited the great national expositions, and other points where it has been desirable to draw great volumes of traffic.

Beautiful

lighting effects are made possible with Electricity.
